With the Barnes and Noble Book Fair to benefit the Anne Arundel County Public Library Foundation right around the corner, we are looking forward to seeing you at our reception to kick off the week and introduce the student athletes from Glen Burnie High School. We hope that you will be able to join us on Sunday, January 31 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the Barnes and Noble Café located at 2516 Solomons Island Road in Annapolis. You should have received your invitation in the mail this week and we ask that you RSVP as soon as possible.

Please share information about the Barnes and Noble Book Fair and bolster support for Richard Henderson and Courtney Strambler, as one of them could have their poster on permanent display in the branch libraries of the Anne Arundel County Public Library system! I am attaching a flyer for your use and distribution, and it can easily be posted on your athletic department's and school's websites. Please take a moment to consider posting the flyer online and in your school during the next two weeks; we will also be asking Glen Burnie High School to announce the book fair during the week of January 31 as part of the daily announcements.

Thank you again for supporting the public libraries in Anne Arundel County, and we look forward to meeting you soon!
