WE KNOW KIDS

The Behavioral Psychology Department at Kennedy Krieger Institute is one of the nation’s leading programs. For over 40 years, we have helped children, adolescents, and their families gain the skills they need to overcome challenges, build resilience, and achieve success. Children’s behavior is our specialty — we understand why kids behave the way they do. Our licensed psychologists use the latest research and best clinical practices to unlock your child’s potential.

Is your child struggling during COVID-19? We can help.

BEHAVIORS WE TREAT

We can help with the daily problems families have during the COVID-19 crisis such as anxiety, homeschooling, home confinement/social isolation, and difficulties with routines as well as a variety of behavioral issues such as aggression, tantrums, noncompliance, disruptive behaviors, eating and sleeping difficulties, medical compliance, coping skills, and self-esteem.

WHO WE HELP

We can help all children and adolescents including individuals with developmental concerns as well as children who are typically developing.
