*Price after application of government-provided subsidy during the EBB Program. Taxes and fees extra. Emergency Broadband Benefit program ("EBB Program") is a temporary government program operated by the Federal Communications Commission and is available to eligible residential, serviceable households for certain broadband service packages offered by Broadstripe under the EBB Program. EBB Program benefit applies to the amount charged for the Internet service offering and associated equipment (like a modem) up to $50/mo per eligible household. Customer responsible for charges in excess of the benefit. Benefit is non-transferable. One benefit per household. Upon termination of the EBB Program, EBB Program services will be subject to Broadstripe's undiscounted rates, which are subject to change, and general terms and conditions if you continue to receive service from Broadstripe. Without your consent to continue services, your Broadstripe services will end when the EBB Program concludes. Eligibility and other EBB Program terms apply. Internet speed reflects wired speeds that are provisioned up to the speed indicated. Internet speeds are not guaranteed and may vary by your equipment, number of users/devices and other factors outside of Broadstripe's control. WiFi connection speeds are also subject to limitation of WiFi network protocols (currently up to roughly 650Mbps) and the capability of the device on the network. Internet use and speeds subject to Broadstripe's acceptable use and network management practices and may be restricted when network usage is heavy or otherwise exceeds normal use. Services subject to Broadstripe use policies and terms. See Broadstripe's complete terms and conditions at broadstripe.com/policies-information or call Broadstripe for further information regarding services and offers.
