

Instructional Technology Master's Program in Educational Technology with Embedded Online Learning and Teaching Post-Baccalaureate Certificate

Contact:

Liyan Song, Ph.D.
lsong@towson.edu
Program Director, Instructional Technology Master's Program
College of Education

Program Overview

Program:

M.S. in Instructional Technology (online, multimodal)

Program Highlights:

- Experienced instructors and recognized scholars
- Asynchronous and synchronous formats to meet learning needs
- Accessible and authentic learning

Admission Requirement:

- Online application
- 3.0 GPA for full admission; 2.75 GPA for conditional admission
- Waived application fee for cohort participants

Curriculum Overview

- ISTE 663: Introduction to Learning Sciences
- ISTE 541: Foundations in Learning Technology and Design
- ISTE 655: Developing Digital Multimedia Materials for Learning Design
- ISTE 667: Instructional Design and Development
- ISTE 603: Foundations of Distance Education
- ISTE 605: E-Learning Design and Development
- ISTE 731: Technology Integration in Theory and Practice
- ISTE 735: Technology, Learning, and Design
- ISTE 702: Leadership in Instructional Technology
- EDUC 605: Informing Educational Practice to Affect Change
- ISTE 685: Research in Instructional Technology
- ISTE 787: Instructional Technology Capstone