

SCHOOL LIBRARY MEDIA PROGRAM

New Multisystem Cohort Announcement

The Towson University School Library Media Program will be offering a multi-school system cohort program option for candidates who will begin their program of study in the fall 2022.

The cohort program will provide a variety of paths for candidates to earn library media specialist certification. A primary benefit of cohort membership is reduced tuition.

A webinar will be held on April 19, 2022 at 5:30pm to provide information on the cohort program including application procedures.

Interested candidates can access the webinar via:
