Organized

MVLO offers online courses for high school credit in collaboration with the local school systems. MVLO is not a school and does not offer a complete high school diploma program online. The teaching is conducted online with the teacher separated from the student by time and/or distance. The teacher communicates with students online and via the telephone. The courses are interactive and provide a wide variety of activities, assignments, and assessments. The credit earned by taking an MVLO course is entered into the student's record by the local public high school.

Each AACPS student enrolled in an online course is assigned an Online Support Teacher from their school who serves as a mentor to the student.

Parents are vital to the success of students. They will be able to monitor the progress of their child as well as maintain consistent communication with the online instructors and support teachers.

Motivated

What makes a successful online student?

- Is a self-disciplined and self-motivated learner
- Works well independently
- Feels comfortable asking for help through email or on forums when confused
- Is skilled in online reading, writing and interaction
- Is willing to work hard (i.e., investment of time, effort) to learn

Who qualifies and who approves?

To qualify, students must be enrolled in:

- An Anne Arundel County public school, or
- An approved nonpublic school program authorized by local school system placement.
